

Hint Japan May Launch Attack Against Russia

Far East Reports Hint Vaguely At New Developments In That Area

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Military sources in the national capital studied with varying interest today reports from the Far East and Europe that hinted vaguely at the possibility Japan may soon launch an attack at Russia to relieve mounting pressure on Germany.

Developments which brought the possibility of change in Japanese strategy were:

1. Dispatches from New Delhi, India, indicated that Japan had suddenly abandoned its drive to split China in two and has been shifting strength to Manchuria.

2. Reports from London that there was "jubilation" in Berlin over a "hidden plan" that soon might startle the Allied world.

Military sources in Washington studied the rumors with interest, but with obvious skepticism, and the consensus was to withhold judgment pending further developments.

The New Delhi angle stemmed from Vice President Henry Wallace's recent visits to China and Russia, and the intimation was that while Russia may not have promised the American emissary, Japan was moving into Manchuria.

However, later dispatches from Chungking reported renewed attacks by the Japanese against the key city of Henan after the Chinese had once broken the enemy's circle around that city.

Just why Berlin should be jubilant over the present war situation was not clear, but it was recalled that in the past the Nazis hinted at dire developments whenever their position appeared particularly bleak.

For months after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, many military experts in Washington felt fairly certain that the Japanese would launch an attack against Russia. However, as the American counter-attack developed, this possibility became more and more remote.

From the broad point of view, however, military men expressed the opinion that Japan eventually might attack Russia—if she thought such a move would be successful—to carve out a solid empire on the mainland.

Burglar Slugs Temple Co-Ed

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—(INS)—A youthful burglar clubbed a 17-year-old Temple University student on the head with a milk bottle when she surprised him as he ransacked the dormitory room, called the police himself—and then fled.

The man, about 25 left Miss Sophie Davidowitz unconscious in her room, and then ran down stairs to turn a householder "there's a girl hurt on the third floor."

The youth next ran to a second floor room, told a girl student the same thing, and dashed back to the first floor, where he called the police before fleeing.

He was believed to have taken about $42 from two rooms.

secutive daily attack against Guam, which was also pounded for four days running by cruisers and destroyers.

While Guam and Rota were menaced by naval units, land-based Liberators of the Seventh Army Air Force struck again at Truk Wednesday, hitting enemy defense installation on Eten and Dublon Islands.

For the first time in several days, Jap fighter planes, which attempted to intercept the Liberators, were shot down. Four of the Japs were shot down, four more were probably shot down, and five were damaged. Four Liberators received minor damage but all returned safely to their bases.

The Ninth command also announced continued neutralizing raids against bypassed enemy bases in the Marshall Islands. Bombing and strafing attacks were made Tuesday and Wednesday by Dauntless dive bombers and Corsair fighters of the Fourth Marine Air Wing.

Meanwhile, isolated remnants of enemy troops on conquered Saipan were being eliminated by American soldiers and Marines while other United States forces rushed the job of converting the few Marianas islands into an American stronghold.

NAZI STRUCTURE OF DEFENSE IN BALTIC SEEMS TO BE DOOMED

Minsk, July 5. Russian forces had advanced a total of 165 miles from second Baltic army into the valley their take-off positions, for an average of about 15 miles a day.

Big Nazi Force Trapped

With Russian armies poised for a push to the Baltic, the most significant military question remaining concerns the fate of German forces occupying Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. These have been estimated recently at 30 divisions, which would total up to about 500,000. If past performance are any guide, these are now probably being overestimated with furious speed. What remains to be seen is how many can escape. The entrapment of large numbers of these formations would have a weakening effect that would be instantly felt on all the fronts on which the Reich is fighting.

Probable result of the present Red Army Baltic campaign seems to be the retirement of the whole German defensive front in the East to a line made up of the Niemen river in the north, linking up further south with the Narew and the Vistula. This would include all of 1939 Germany plus part of Poland.

It would be composed of a powerful series of positions, tested by both sides in World War one. When this line is reached the real life-and-death test will come. The Nazis can lose the Baltic states without suffering a mortal wound, but if the Niemen-Narew-Vistula line is pierced, the Reich is sunk.

He has a brother, Sgt. William Pattison, in Ireland.

than 310 towns and villages in the 22nd day of their great summer drive, which Moscow has called a "win-the-war" offensive.

The 900-year old city of Pinsk lies on the railroad running through the Pripiet marshes to Warsaw. Volkovysk is 17 miles northeast of the Polish capital.

The Soviet midnight communiqué disclosed that Maj. Gen. Engel commander of the German 45th infantry division, had surrendered with his entire staff at Volkovysk. He was the 20th Nazi general to be taken by the Russians since they launched their big push June 23.

The Nazi DNB agency claimed that the Germans had driven into Grodno twice Thursday but were driven out.

Gen. Ivan Bagramian's First Baltic army, penetrating deeper into Central Lithuania, occupied more than 70 localities west and north-west of Sventyach and 20 more southwest of Polotsk.

Drive Into Latvia

To the north Gen. Andrei Yermolenko's Second Baltic army, driving toward central Latvia, took the town of Riga and occupied more than 70 localities west and north-west of Sventyach and 20 more southwest of Polotsk.

Russian forces, overcoming stubborn Nazi opposition, reached the Ostrov-Opochka highway. Ostrov, on the northern end of the road, is approximately 25 miles southeast of the junction of the Latvian, Lithuanian and Russian borders. Opochka is 25 miles north of the rail junction of Idrisla, captured by the Soviets Thursday, and an equal distance from the Latvian frontier.

Northwest and southwest of Wilno, Gen. Iron Chernyakhovsky's Third White Russian army scooped up more than 60 localities as it smashed its way along both sides of the railroad to Kaunas, capital of Lithuania, and Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia.

Southeast of Lida the Russians seized more than 50 localities, including five railway towns and a regional district center of Bialystok province.

Still farther south, Gen. Georgi Zakharov's Second White Russian army, which occupied Volkovysk more than 70 towns and villages west and southwest of Slonim.

Sgt. Adamczyk and Miss Strawhecker were injured when the automobile in which they were riding, left the highway and crashed into a brick wall in front of a residence at Coitsville Center.

Wallace's Status Still In Doubt

President Roosevelt's 'Recommendation' On Running Mate Remains Mystery

By WILLIAM J. TRUES
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, July 15.—Democratic national chairman Robert E. Hannegan arrived in Chicago today presumably bearing President Roosevelt's "recommendation" on selection of his 1944 running mate, but he has been unable to make himself the mystery man of the party's convention headquarters.

Hannegan was whisked away from his train in one of Mayor Edward J. Kelly's cars and more than two hours later still had not put in an appearance at his headquarters in the Stevens hotel. Party officials insisted they had neither seen nor heard from him.

In his pocket was believed to be President Roosevelt's letter of qualified endorsement of vice president Henry A. Wallace—a key which may open the door to the party's first nomination battle since 1928.

While Hannegan remained in seclusion, Sen. Joseph P. Guffey of Pennsylvania arrived from Washington and told newsmen he was "certain that Wallace will be re-nominated." Guffey promised a statement tomorrow. He added that he "understood" Hannegan had the Roosevelt letter.

At the same time it was learned that Wallace now plans to come to Chicago Monday. The vice president is chairman of the Iowa delegation to the Democratic convention.

Supporters of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, also considered a possible presidential possibility, will open a Bird headquarters in Chicago next Monday.

Indiana Barber Is Also Violin Maker

PITTSBORO, Ind., July 15.—(INS)—Ever since he was a "little shaver," Frank Lovell, Pittsboro barber, has been interested in designing and making violins.

When he finished his twelfth instrument recently his son, Marvin Lovell, Indianapolis violinist, tried Lovell's design and liked it so much he refused to give it up long enough to have the outside finish added. "It's good enough for me right now," he said. The violin was a copy of a Stradivarius model.

About a year ago Lovell made a violin now being used by Fred Noble, a member of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, but he considers the twelfth instrument his masterpiece.

It is the result of years of study and preparation coupled with repeated trial and error. The wood is made as pure as Czechoslovakian spruce from the outbreak of World War II.

Lovell explained that it was taken from the walls of an old house in that country, and has the proper "seasoning" for beauty of tone. Similar wood is used in the most expensive violins.

OPA Cracks Down In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—(INS)—The Barclay hotel, one of Philadelphia's most fashionable hostelrys, and several restaurants and cafes were charged today with price violations as the office of price administration cracked down for the first time on food and liquor dispensing places levying over ceiling charges.

In equity proceedings filed in U. S. district court, the district OPA asked that the defendants be restrained from future violations, and be compelled to pay back overcharges.

Two Children Die In Fire At Akron

AKRON, O., July 15.—(INS)—Firemen today sought the cause of a fire which swept a home in Akron's north hill section and brought death to a young brother and sister.

The dead children were Jackie Graham, 3, and his sister, Rebecca, 18 months. They were trapped in a fire which swept a home in Akron's north hill section and brought death to a young brother and sister.

See Increase In Big Bills Carried By U.S. Citizens

CLEVELAND, July 15.—(INS)—A great expansion in the amount of cash in circulation in the black market and other illegal pursuits was described today by Leonard P. Ayres, widely known Cleveland economist.

"There are more than 32 million $100 in circulation, but it is certain that there are not in this country 32 million genuine and legitimate reasons for using $100 bills," Ayres declared.

In addition, nearly a million $1,000 bills are in circulation, he said in the monthly business bulletin of the Cleveland Trust company, of which he is vice president. Banks have always used the big bills to make settlements with other banks, he pointed out, but they have no use for such great numbers of them.

In explanation of the rapid increase since May, 1943, in the circulation of the big bills, Ayres said: "Students of such matters are convinced that a large proportion of the large bills are in use in the black market, or to facilitate tax evasion or for hoarding. Our total circulation of all kinds of bills is 21 billion dollars, and it may well be that something like four billion dollars in big bills is in use in illegal or illegitimate ways."

English Women To Get Bustles Back

LONDON.—(INS)—Bustles will return to British again this autumn. Not the billowy affairs which our grandmothers sported in the eighties, but a more subdued bustle—a quiet little thing—often not more than a giant padded bow.

This doesn't mean that the streets of Britain will look like one huge scene from "Cavalcade" because the bustle will only be worn by evening dresses and not many persons have time to dress for evening now.

Another piece of apparel brought back from the past is the Cloak. The eye of the designer long has been offended by the sight of women walking about with coats flung round their shoulders and the sleeves dangling.

So they have designed the cloak which they hope will serve the same purpose and at the same time look much smarter. It is an attractive affair, flattering to the figure and carried out in all the newest autumn shades and materials.

U. S. FORCES NOW THREATENING TO ENCIRCLE LESSAY

of the road and rail junction of Periers.

The Yanks occupied the town of Collium, a mile northwest of Lessay and battered their way 500 yards beyond the town.

The spokesmen declared that the Nazis are still withdrawing all along the American sector of the front, except from the towns of Lessay, Periers and St. Lo, which they are expected to try to hold before making their next stand in the high wooded ground south of Periers.

Pisiot, some two miles east of Lessay, has also fallen to advancing American forces.

Bridges Blown Up

In the Meuse sector, the Yanks found the Ay river bridges were blown up to within two miles of Lessay. The enemy is doing everything possible to delay the advance in the Lessay area, making the maximum possible use of inundations.

Yesterday the Americans, pushing their way to within two miles of St. Lo, occupied the town of La Cretiere, three miles to the north. Prior to today's advance in the Periers area, the Americans had extended the general line to about four miles north of the city taking Gouvilleville, approximately a mile south of the inundations.

It was pointed out that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces held on the southern sector of the Caen area still constituted an unpleasant threat to the Allied beachhead in Normandy and must be liquidated. The Germans yesterday constantly and heavily shelled the Allied-Periers area south of Caen.

Weather Unfavorable

The weather remains unfavorable along the entire battlefield, being about nine-tenths cloudy with a 1,000 to 2,000-foot ceiling.

To the east of Periers, American forces advanced a mile south of Les Chapelles, De Lesque West of Lessay. American patrols pushed through St. Germain-Sur-Ay against light opposition to Les Mezerieus, which still remains in enemy hands.

Driving through gorges at St. Germain, American units reached Les Granges and linked up south of Le Hommet with other American troops advancing around the eastern flank of Lessay through Gorges and marshes.

Between Sainteny and the Vire river, east of St. Lo, a number of local advances were made. Allied heavy bombers, medium bombers fighter-bombers and fighters carried out widespread attacks yesterday on enemy objectives throughout the battle zone and farther inland despite inclement weather.

The Nazis put more fighter planes into the air than they have for some time and 25 of them were shot down at a cost of seven Allied planes.

Heavy bombers blasted the rail center of Villeneuve St. Georges southeast of Paris last night, while light bombers attacked enemy headquarters northeast of Poitiers, some 200 miles south of the Normandy battlefield.

TRAPPED UNITS OF JAP ARMY IN ESCAPE UNIT

Army infantrymen were revealed to have overrun the Savar airdrome, in the Sarmi-Maffin area of Dutch New Guinea, without encountering Jap opposition.

Resistance Collapses

Gen. MacArthur's communiqué said: "Enemy resistance in this area has practically collapsed. Our seizure of Noemfoor to the west, following that of Blak, cut the line of supply of the enemy's forces in the Sarmi-Maffin area, and with our frontal pressure has made his position untenable."

Liberator bombers blasted the Manokwari airdrome and harbor defenses in a strike which left fierce fires burning in its wake, and went on to batter the much-bombed Babo airdrome on MacClew Gulf, with 30 tons of explosives. Gun positions at Babo were silenced in the raid.

Other Liberator formations smashed at Yap Island in the Carolines in a midday raid.

Talk of flying has been made since the dawn of intelligence. About the time Columbus was discovering America, the famous Italian Painter Leonardo da Vinci had a vision of flying men and experimented with wings of various designs, none of which, however, was successful.

Those willing to furnish transportation will please call Ben Fein, phone 2865, and give him a number you can carry. We will meet at The Castleton in time to leave there at 12 sharp.

To get to Weinschenk, drive out Pennsylvania avenue and through to the Savannah church.

CARL E. FAISLEY, Secretary.

Washington Calling

MARQUIS CHILDS

Free Press Example

WASHINGTON—Because he knew and loved the craft, Raymond Clapper understood only too well the monetary quality of most newspaper writing. Yet a selection of his columns put together by his widow in a book called "Watching the World" has the quality of living history.

It has the quality, too, that was at the root of everything Raymond Clapper did—unhakeable integrity. That is why, for all of us in the business, this book is a landmark. So much that Clapper wrote toward the end of 1943 has a prophetic ring. He was acutely aware of the testing that would come in 44-of the deep shadow over the valley we would have to pass through. With courage and insight, he wrote on December 29, 1943, just a few days before he took off on the trip that cost his life, the following:

"Editorial writers, columnists and commentators seem to me to be under the same obligations of conscientious loyalty to what they understand and believe that public men are under. We writers freely demand that senators, representatives, presidents, and office-holders and politicians, generally, show moral courage and loyalty to their convictions, even at the risk of being retired to private life. This year we may have to face some of the same kind of testing."

Sense of Responsibility
In this is the almost solemn sense of responsibility that marked Clapper's approach to his job. It wasn't just a game or a racket or a trick. He knew he had an obligation to the millions who read his column.

Too often in our business, that sense of obligation is missing. Too many of us—editors, publishers, columnists, commentators alike—get the idea that we have a divine right to be paid for what we do. Since almost the only curb outside of the libel laws is our own self-restraint, there is no corrective to power abused.

When I say that, I'm thinking of the nationally syndicated columnist who predicted in the spring that Winston Churchill would be ousted of office by the middle of June. Seemingly this was to be a new kind of appeasement to stall off the invasion of Europe.

That false report served to cast doubt on the good faith of the Allies. It undermined confidence in Britain. It weakened, even if in a minor way, the resolution of our side in the last-ditch scrap.

So far as is discoverable to the naked eye, nothing has happened to that columnist. No measuring rod of fair practices has been laid alongside his grievous error, to use a charitable word.

Used As Propaganda
In contrast to Raymond Clapper's integrity, I'm thinking of the writer who put together such a vicious piece on our handling of diplomatic and economic affairs abroad that it was picked up intact by the German propaganda magazine signal, with full credit given to the author. He must have been proud to see his handiwork in Hitler's service around the world.

I'm thinking, too, of the columnists and commentators who day after day pour out their personal bile and venom, disregarding even elementary fair play. They are well paid for character assassination; for the luxury of venting their personal hates.

God knows we all make mistakes. By the terms of our jobs, we write too often and too much. The attempt to play God is an occupational disease that sneaks up on even those who try hard to keep perspective.

All abuse of power eventually of course, find a corrective. Long delayed, however, the correction may be a violent one. In a democracy, steam can blow off from time to time but, under dictatorship, the only safe valve is revolution.

More of the self-restraint and fair play that Raymond Clapper exemplified are needed in this business. Otherwise the antidote when it finally comes may be so violent, we shall lose the heritage we talk so much about—freedom of the press.

With freedom, as Ray Clapper knew, goes responsibility.

THE WIDER WAY

The way to pride and happiness is not a narrow lane. But one where two walk side by side in sunshine and the rain. And always it is wide enough for one or several more.

And always it begins at ends at home's familiar door.

The way to life's enduring joys may be a little street. Where heart and mind of man and wife in common purpose meet.

Where all that happens, good or ill, or weather for or fair, Is looked upon alike by both as meant for both to share.

Some think the narrow one-way path is easier to fare. That less of grief and agony the single heart may bear.

But who elects the selfish lane, and scorns the pathway wide. May some day wish it chosen roads for walking side by side.

The way to pride and happiness runs often deep through woe. And heavy is the weight at times the hearts of two must know. But children race the wider lanes, and there are friendships true.

With love for each to close the book, when there is no more to do, Copyright, 1944, Edgar A. Guest

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:35. Sun rises tomorrow 5:30.

Every man knows how a wife should be managed, but few of them seem able to act on their knowledge.

A model marriage is one in which the wife is the treasurer and the husband a treasury.

A matrimonial bureau is one with drawers packed full of women's clothes and a man's necktie.

A manicurist is a person who makes money hand over fist.

Anyhow, most of us are going to have late tomatoes.

Our national debt, broken down into understandable figures which the starry-eyed theorists do not like to have us understand, shows that the portion owed by each family in the United States is approximately $10,000.

Or, to put it another way: If you own a house clear of all debt and valued at $5,000, you would be able to pay off just one-half of your share of the national debt. . . . and since you are not compelled to pay the principle, your pro rata of the interest at two per cent a year is $200.

Remember, this $200 is the interest alone that you must pay through taxation in addition to other necessary tax for the state, the schools and your city government.

In the old days they used to kiss and make up. Now they make up first.

Who can remember the days when the suffragette was often described as a being who had ceased to be a lady, and was no gentleman?

ANNOUNCING ENGAGEMENT
"Please tell me a simple way to announce my daughter's engagement at a party."—A. N.

Answer: Give a luncheon, a tea, a dinner or an evening supper party. Assuming that you will choose the last mentioned, suggest the following menu: Cold, sliced meat, salad, a beverage, small fancy cakes, nuts and candy.

Buy some plain cards, about the size of a visiting card. Write on each: "Announcing the engagement of Miss Anne Smith and Mr. John Jones." Place one of these cards, enclosed in an envelope to fit it, in front of each guest's plate at the supper table. If the engaged couple have visiting cards, both should be placed in each envelope instead of the plain card mentioned. Nothing need be written on them. Their presence together will be sufficient to indicate an announcement.

If you serve beverages, your husband should propose a toast to his newly-engaged daughter and her fiancé. You, your daughter and her fiancé should greet the guests as they arrive and to those not having previously met the young man introduce him as "Anne's fiancé."

It is not in very good taste to go to any formal or elaborate means of announcing an engagement. And no general announcement need be made at all during the evening. The engagement ring should not be worn until the night of the announcement.

Question: I am to be married in church and have a reception at a hotel immediately following the ceremony. Should I arrive at the hotel before or after the guests assemble there?—Alice.

Answer: You and the remainder of the wedding party should precede all other guests to the place where the reception will take place and there form a receiving line so that you may be greeted by your guests as they arrive shortly after you.

Those Lovely Letters

WASHINGTON, July 15—THE LETTERS of Mr. Roosevelt and his personally selected chairman are upon a very lofty plane indeed. The hand-picked subordinate reports to his Chief in a "clear majority" of the delegates "reflecting the vast majority of the American people" are pledged to his nomination, and the Chief modestly declaring that "my only thought is for the good of the American people" and "I am a good soldier," asserts that he will sacrifice his personal desires and yield again to the "command of the people."

THE EXCHANGE literally reeks with nobility. One would never gather from Mr. Hannegan that for months past, aided by Mr. Roosevelt's personal secretaries he has been pulling every possible wire to get this delegate majority. And certainly, one would never gather from Mr. Roosevelt's letter that he is not only as fully aware and approved of what Mr. Hannegan and his white House aides were doing but encouraged it. Yet there isn't an informed newspaperman or politician who does not know these things to be true.

NOR WOULD one gather from either letter that there are among the delegates several hundred strongly opposed to a fourth Roosevelt term, who feel that it is against the national interest to reflect him and that the consequences would be very bad for him, for the party and for the nation. Yet they will make no mention of it.

Speaking of hats—a mean man phoned me the other morning, before breakfast, and said something like this: "That was an outrageous column you wrote the other day about Governor Dewey's mistake being a campaign liability."

"It just proved that if women have no right to be in politics or to vote, either. You ought to be ashamed of exposing your ignorance that way. What's a mistake got to do with the election, anyhow?"

Besides, some of the finest men in our history have had mustaches. Even better, didn't Henry Wadsworth Longfellow have a beard? And Buffalo Bill? And Abraham Lincoln? Most of our poets had beards. How about that?"

"I still don't think they looked well in a suit," I answered. "I'd have liked to meet poets when they were smooth shaven with faces uncovered, and so discover what sort of fellows they were when they came out in the open. Keats was unshaven and Byron. Maybe that's why we thought they were so beautiful."

"Listen, lady," said the Mean Man. And a perfect stranger he was to me. Any woman who wears the kind of a foolish hat, and calls it a hat, has a lot of nerve to make remarks about any man's mustache. Think that one over."

Food And Beeties
I have thought it over and I still see a little blob of black mustache is kinda funny. And I like you, hat even if the humidity is taking the starch out of its up-zip.

Overheard on a capital bus:
"One of the things that worries me about this war is that good potatoes are so hard to get. Mine have some holes and things in them. And it almost kills me to pay 60 cents for a cantaloup. Cantaloups are phonier than ever this year."

I guess it's the Japanese beetles that make them that way. Our whole yard has been eaten up by Japanese beetles. They're even walking into the house. I found some sticking to my velvet slippers. They ought not to be had to catch. They're sort of sluggish. I understand the reason the Japanese beetles came over here is that they got tired of the food in their own country. What do you suppose we could do to catch Japanese beetles for good and always? Maybe we ought to sick American beetles on them."

"Well, I don't know about beetles and the bad luck they bring. But I do know about the sweetest piece of good luck Lillie has had with her new baby. Her practical nurse is an intimate friend of the lady whose husband runs the diner wash. So the practical nurse asked her friend, who asked her husband to move Lillie up on the waiting list. She was down to 732. Lillie said, And now she's second! Isn't that a wonderful break?"

"Well, good bye dear, I'll be seeing you. This war certainly has taught me one thing, and that is, to cultivate congressmen and diplomats and people like that when you live in Washington. I only wish I'd had sense enough to make real friends with butchers and laundrymen and that dicker wash man's wife!"

INSTEAD, the time of the high commanding officers would be unnecessarily taken up by the visit of the President. Their attention would, to some degree at least, be diverted from the vital business of beating the Germans. Great precautions would have to be taken to insure, so far as possible, the Presidential safety. Their burdens and responsibilities would be increased. Without a very real reason for his presence the head of the nation has no right to expose himself to the hazards of such an adventure. Barring such a reason, such a visit at such a time and under existing circumstances certainly would be denounced by the Republicans as a cheap political gesture utterly unworthy of the President of the United States. And so it would be a deliberate use of the war for purely political purposes.

ONCE that idea penetrated the popular mind the political consequences to Mr. Roosevelt might be disastrous. This Commander in Chief business can be overplayed. Mr. Roosevelt's effort, in his letter of acceptance, to draw a parallel between himself and G. I. Joe on the fighting front was extremely strained. Use of his war record to justify all White House politics and cover up all New Deal politicians may react before the campaign is over.

Some Light Thoughts For Heavy Days Given
Pentagon Drinking Fountains Hard To Get At
Columnist Called To Task About Mustaches

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 15—Some light thoughts for very heavy days: Those three smart Republican boys—National Chairman Brownell, Committeeman J. Russell Sprague and Edwin Jaekle, who dwell on the 25th floor of the Stevens hotel during the Chicago convention and told everybody what to do—are being pleasantly referred to as the political duplicates of Wynton, Blynken and Nod.

The drinking fountains in the war department's Pentagon are so arranged that it is impossible to get a sprinkle of water therefrom—unless you take off your hat. It is extremely inconvenient for a woman passerby to remove that which is currently known as a hat, 17 invisible hair pins, the rubber bandeau which keeps that which is known as a hat on that which is currently known as a head of hair, and then having done all these things, to twist the swan-like throat into an ostrich neck while stooping and bending—merely to get a drink of water—bubbling away two inches from your mouth.

Dewey's Mustache
Unformed and ill-fitted, the same trouble quenching their thirst in the Pentagon. They can't reach the fountain's cooling spout unless they take off their caps. The fountain is hooded, like a jack-in-the-pulpit. Or is it a chambered Nautilus? Anyhow, you have to go thirsty in the Pentagon—if you have a hat on.

Speaking of hats—a mean man phoned me the other morning, before breakfast, and said something like this: "That was an outrageous column you wrote the other day about Governor Dewey's mistake being a campaign liability."

"It just proved that if women have no right to be in politics or to vote, either. You ought to be ashamed of exposing your ignorance that way. What's a mistake got to do with the election, anyhow?" Besides, some of the finest men in our history have had mustaches. Even better, didn't Henry Wadsworth Longfellow have a beard? And Buffalo Bill? And Abraham Lincoln? Most of our poets had beards. How about that?"

"I still don't think they looked well in a suit," I answered. "I'd have liked to meet poets when they were smooth shaven with faces uncovered, and so discover what sort of fellows they were when they came out in the open. Keats was unshaven and Byron. Maybe that's why we thought they were so beautiful."

"Listen, lady," said the Mean Man. And a perfect stranger he was to me. Any woman who wears the kind of a foolish hat, and calls it a hat, has a lot of nerve to make remarks about any man's mustache. Think that one over."

Food And Beeties
I have thought it over and I still see a little blob of black mustache is kinda funny. And I like you, hat even if the humidity is taking the starch out of its up-zip.

Overheard on a capital bus:
"One of the things that worries me about this war is that good potatoes are so hard to get. Mine have some holes and things in them. And it almost kills me to pay 60 cents for a cantaloup. Cantaloups are phonier than ever this year."

I guess it's the Japanese beetles that make them that way. Our whole yard has been eaten up by Japanese beetles. They're even walking into the house. I found some sticking to my velvet slippers. They ought not to be had to catch. They're sort of sluggish. I understand the reason the Japanese beetles came over here is that they got tired of the food in their own country. What do you suppose we could do to catch Japanese beetles for good and always? Maybe we ought to sick American beetles on them."

"Well, I don't know about beetles and the bad luck they bring. But I do know about the sweetest piece of good luck Lillie has had with her new baby. Her practical nurse is an intimate friend of the lady whose husband runs the diner wash. So the practical nurse asked her friend, who asked her husband to move Lillie up on the waiting list. She was down to 732. Lillie said, And now she's second! Isn't that a wonderful break?"

"Well, good bye dear, I'll be seeing you. This war certainly has taught me one thing, and that is, to cultivate congressmen and diplomats and people like that when you live in Washington. I only wish I'd had sense enough to make real friends with butchers and laundrymen and that dicker wash man's wife!"

INSTEAD, the time of the high commanding officers would be unnecessarily taken up by the visit of the President. Their attention would, to some degree at least, be diverted from the vital business of beating the Germans. Great precautions would have to be taken to insure, so far as possible, the Presidential safety. Their burdens and responsibilities would be increased. Without a very real reason for his presence the head of the nation has no right to expose himself to the hazards of such an adventure. Barring such a reason, such a visit at such a time and under existing circumstances certainly would be denounced by the Republicans as a cheap political gesture utterly unworthy of the President of the United States. And so it would be a deliberate use of the war for purely political purposes.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR SOLDIERS

In the army training camps a soldier who wishes to do so can continue his schooling. He may enter any one of a number of courses taught in the camp or pursue correspondence courses. All enlisted personnel who have been in active service at least four months, are eligible according to an announcement of the War Department.

General supervision of these courses will be provided by the Army Institute at Madison, Wis. The courses may be taken directly through this Army Institute or arranged through extension divisions of about 80 colleges and universities cooperating with the Institute.

The 65 or more courses made available by the Institute cover English, social studies, mathematics, sciences, business and electrical, mechanics, and other features.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A friend of mine, a well-known New York artist, went on his vacation a couple of weeks ago.

He had a seat on the plane to Milwaukee where his parents live, but just before leaving time had to give it up to an Army officer.

So he took a train and had a nice time with his folks.

But there was one rub. He tried everything under the sun to get return accommodations home but there wasn't a berth available on any train for two weeks to come.

My friend had to get back. There were several jobs to be finished at a certain time and berth or no berth, he had to make it somehow. A friend of his told him about a chap he knew who had to ship a couple of horses to a Maryland farm.

They had to go by truck, but there was nobody to drive the truck. The fellow who attended to the horses couldn't drive.

If he could find a reliable pony to drive the truck, he would pay $75 for the job.

He Got Back

"Ah," said my friend to himself, "I've got to get back. I can drive. I'd like to make $75 instead of spending my own money."

The deal was quickly arranged and within an hour, he was on his way at the wheel of a big truck, with two horses and a happy Negro boy for company.

The trip took two days and a half. The boy fed the horses and stabled them for the night, my friend fed himself and stayed up the best of a Pullman upper berth, slept in comfortable hotel rooms.

"I never had so much fun in my life," he told me when he got back. "I enjoyed every minute of it, and I never knew how much you can learn when you really mix with the people who make up this country."

Of course, you may never have a chance to drive a truck of horses. But it shows you what can be done when an opportunity arises and you know how to grasp it.

Most people would have kicked and fussed about the vicissitude of wars and stayed up the best of a bad situation and got a lot of fun and some money out of it, besides.

Resourcefulness, a bit of luck, some nerve and a spirit of adventure can solve a lot of problems for you.

But, of course, a truck driver's seat is not so comfortable as a Pullman berth.

Jap Broadcast Says U. S. Airmen Have Been Executed

Also Threatens Execution Of Any Allied Airmen Forced To Land In Japan

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 15.—A Japanese broadcast, beamed to American forces in the southwest Pacific said today that several American airmen captured recently following the first B-29 Superfortress raid on northern Kyushu last month have been executed.

The broadcast, beamed out of Singapore and recorded by FCC monitors, warned that any allied airmen who fall or bail out over Japan will be executed.

As reported to the Office of War Information by the FCC, the broadcast carried the word "this is the order of the day" and in making the new executions said the Superfortresses had met with "the same fate which was meted out to the raiders of Tokyo some two years ago."

Threat Is Made

Reception of the broadcast was poor, FCC said, and only a few excerpts from the Japanese spokesman's "special talk" in English were intelligible.

In general, the speech to American forces in the southwest was a threat that those who attempt what was called "suicidal raids" on Japan would be purchasing a "one-way ticket to hell."

American army communiques reported the loss of four B-29s on the first of the northern Kyushu raids, two by enemy action and two by accident, and none in the second attack.

FCC monitors have recorded nothing directly from Tokyo to compare with the Singapore radio statement, either in broadcasts by the Tokyo radio or in press transmissions by the Domei agency which are sent out in Morse code for reception by wireless operators or on automatic recording machines.

Gideons Meet Friday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Johnson, of 325 East Wallace avenue, entertained the New Castle Camp of Gideons and their ladies' auxiliary at their home Friday evening.

The devotional period and the business session were in charge of Robt. Chappell.

Plans were made for Gideon service in churches in the surrounding towns, also to send 10,000 New Testaments for distribution in Camp Reynolds. Report was given that Bibles had been placed in the Mary Evans Maternity hospital, Ellwood City.

The auxiliary had their business session in an adjoining room. It was reported that 13 New Testaments had been distributed to army nurses, WAVES and WACS, leaving for service.

A delicious lunch was served by the ladies, assisted by her daughter, Mary Ann.

Next meeting will be in the form of an annual picnic, in August.

Meeting closed with forming a Gideon circle and benediction.

Detroit Tank Workers Strike

DETROIT, July 15.—(INS)—Because one of their members was disciplined, 284 assembly line employees at the Detroit Tank Arsenal walked out on strike this morning halting tank production and forcing 750 into idleness, according to a Chrysler corporation spokesman.

The tank assembly at the Detroit Tank Arsenal stopped this morning at 9:30 a. m., the spokesman announced, "when the men struck because one of their members was disciplined for apparently having tried to incite a race riot earlier in the week."

The worker, Stanley Novak, a member of UAW-GIO local 833, allegedly formed a noose out of a 20-foot rope and threw it over a beam when he heard a rumor that a negro had put his arm around a white woman, according to the company statement.

WOMAN CUTS FINGER

Mrs. Anna Rodgers, of R. D. 2, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital for a laceration of the end of the right forefinger, received this morning, when she was slicing a ham. Sutures were needed to close the wound received.

Charge Boy With Striking Movie Star Jeanette McDonald

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 15.—(INS)—Singing Star Jeanette McDonald was revealed today by Santa Barbara police as the victim of an assault in her hotel cottage late last night which left her with a badly swollen right eye and several facial cuts.

Placed under arrest and lodged in a detention home was a 14-year-old bell boy who admitted entering Miss McDonald's cottage "to get a souvenir" but denied striking the actress.

Police said Miss McDonald told them that she had gone to her cottage at the El Encanto hotel at 10:30 p. m. last night and immediately gone to bed. About 11:15 p. m., she said she heard a door slam.

She listened for 15 minutes, she said, and then got up to investigate.

She said as she turned on the light the boy ran towards her, carrying a blanket which he threw at her. She did not know, she told police, whether he was trying to throw it over her head or not.

Miss McDonald said that she kicked the boy and that he then struck her and fled.

She recognized him, she said, because he had come to her cottage earlier to get an autograph.

The boy was arrested shortly thereafter, and admitted, police said, that he had entered Miss McDonald's cottage. He said he had picked up one of her handkerchiefs.

He said that he was just getting ready to leave when he heard her get up and turn on the light. He said he hid momentarily in a closet and that then he had come out "and I threw the blanket at her."

"I didn't hit her and I don't know how my knuckles got skinned. I didn't mean any harm," police quoted him as saying.

Miss McDonald is in Santa Barbara studying for an operatic role.

Air Raid Warning Change Effective On Monday Night

New Warning System Will Go Into Effect At 8 P. M. July 17, Speedy Work Planned

HARRISBURG, July 15.—(INS)—The State Defense Council announced that Pennsylvania's new air raid warning system will become effective at 8 p. m. July 17 and promised speedy transmission of alarms to counties.

Under the simplified plan, devised by Chief Air Raid Warden Ray F. Reigelmeier, the state control center at Harrisburg will send warnings to the metropolitan areas for transmission to surrounding counties.

The third service command requested the council June 9 to handle alerts because the army had withdrawn personnel and equipment for overseas duty.

Open 24 Hours

When the flash is received at the control center, warnings will be sent to the Philadelphia warning center for dissemination to Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware counties.

The Pittsburgh center will transmit warnings to county headquarters in Meadville, Warren, Bradford, Coudersport, Ridgway, Clarion, Oil City, Sharon, New Castle, Beaver, Kittanning, Indiana, Johnstown, Somerset, Uniontown, Waynesburg and Clearfield.

Warnings to Pottsville, Stroudsburg, Mauch Chunk and eastern centers will be transmitted from Allentown, the council reported.

The state control center will be manned 24 hours a day and will be in direct communication with the third service command headquarters at Baltimore, Md. The state police teletype system will be used to speed warnings, the council explained.

Policemen Kill Resisting Negro

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—(INS)—A 27-year-old negro was shot to death by policemen today, after he seriously wounded one of the police officers as they tried to arrest him for shooting another man in a North Philadelphia taproom.

The assailant, identified as James Thomas, of North Philadelphia, was cut down by shots fired by policemen Frank Low and Michael Lanza after he fired a bullet into Low's chest.

The patrolmen had been summoned to the taproom after Thomas allegedly got into an argument with Henry Herbert, 27, a neighbor, and shot him in the chest.

Low's condition was reported as serious.

CLEVELAND, July 15.—(INS)—A coroner's verdict of murder-suicide had been returned today in the deaths of Charles A. Considine, 43-year-old postal clerk of Cleveland, and his wife Della, 31.

Considine, formerly a resident of Duryea, Pa., allegedly stabbed his wife to death with a large kitchen knife, and then hung himself in the basement of his home last Thursday. The deaths were said to have climaxed a long-standing quarrel between the couple over Mrs. Considine's working in a war plant.

Two sons, Robert, 13, and Richard, 10, survive.

the indestructible soul is in the bonds of God . . . Nations whose "new order" ideology attempted to build a state of human security on the quick sands of "man's infallibility" are being swallowed in the mine of their false foundations . . . American ideals were of a different conception. Let's keep them on the firm foundation of "God's infallibility" and man's dependability . . . One of the national magazines recently made a survey among the boys on the various fighting fronts. They asked them, among other questions, what they missed most. Some were longing for a double chocolate malted at their favorite corner drug store. Others placed a piece of good home baked apple pie as the top requirement.

One lad in particular said the one thing he missed most was the sound of a train whistle. Normally, this would seem like a strange request. But it wasn't. Train whistles are very much a part of American town life. We, on the home front, take many things for granted. We see the trains going by each day. In ever increasing numbers. We give little thought to where they are going or why. Yet if we were suddenly lifted out of our daily routine and set down in a strange part of the world we never notice at present.

Speaking of trains brings to mind a question. Have you given a thought to the very important part the railroads are playing in this war? Perhaps we have wondered why we can't always get a ticket for a train. . . or a seat in an air conditioned coach. Sometimes we are irked when the trains are late. But when we stop to consider the facts we get a far different picture.

During 1943 the railroads set a record for organized military and furlough travel with 85,000,000 passenger-miles. In the first three months of 1944 this record has been passed by 25%.

But carrying our fighting men to and from the various camps or to points of embarkation is but one small part of war transportation. Military men figure fighting equipment in terms of ton-per-man. Thus in this mechanized affair that we are now engaged in, the initial shipping requirements are six tons per man. The maintenance requirement is one ton per man per month.

Keeping the railroads operating at top efficiency has been a gargantuan job. Every piece of equipment able to move has gone into service. Cars and locomotives once headed for the scrap heap have been put back on the "ready" track.

Long before our country became involved in the present war, we foresaw the tremendous burden that would be placed on our railroads. So we took immediate steps to guarantee a continuous flow of uniform, high quality bearings in order to make this possible.

Vesper Service Planned At Camp Rantz On Sunday

Rev. Thomas J. Jones Will Be Guest
Preacher At Service Sunday Afternoon

Rev. Thomas Jones of the First Congregational church will be the guest preacher at the New Castle Y camp Sunday afternoon. The service will be held at 3 o'clock. Leading the singing for the camp will be Dave Lewis.

Parents of the boys are invited to join the boys in their Sunday worship period at the camp. The fathers of the boys are also invited to join with the boys in a swimming period in the afternoon. Sunday is the only official visiting day at the camp. On Sunday evening the boys will gather around a camp fire and those who are leaving camp will be presented with their awards.

Thursday evening was closed with the campers viewing thrilling movies of the evening. After watching the hero use his airplane to rescue the heroine the boys saw a picture which showed most of the heavy-weight boxing champions including Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Afternoon hours were passed with handicraft, boating and games. Many of the boys are completing their projects in handicraft which include many usable trays and clever designs on them.

On the ball field the game between the Cozy Ties and the Super Mouses ended with the Super Mouses winning a thrilling game by the score of 3-2. Snow featured with a home run drive for the winners, while young Del Matthews struck out ten of the winning team members to feature for the losers.

Early evening hours were consumed by the campers playing a hotly contested game of capture the flag. After quite a long game the boys had to call it a draw in order to get ready for the movies. Devotional services were then conducted by the Counselors and the boys were soon sound asleep. Taps was sounded by Jim Cox to close the activity for the day.

Friday's program featured the playing of the games on the volleyball court and on the baseball field. Friday evening found the boys around the camp fire singing songs and listening to a thrilling story.

A cup of leftover gravy, diluted with the liquid from canned or fresh cooked vegetables, makes an excellent soup stock foundation tasty and nourishing.

Governor Dewey Spends Week-End Quietly At Farm

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PAWLING, N. Y., July 15.—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, relaxed on his Quaker Hill farm today, waiting for the Democratic national convention to join the campaign issue by going through the formality of nominating President Roosevelt for a fourth term in the White House.

The governor remained in virtual seclusion with his wife and two boys, resting and going over material for his discussions at St. Louis, August 2 and 3, with the Republican governors of 25 other states.

This week-end at Dapplemere, the Dewey farm, was in sharp contrast to a week ago, when photographers swarmed over the place, posing members of the nominee's family against the rural background.

James C. Hagerty, executive assistant to the governor, said the latter planned to see no visitors, except neighbor, prior to his return, Albany late Sunday or early Monday.

Westminster Begins
Second Term Monday

Completing the first six weeks of the summer term, 130 Westminster students finished their finals on Friday and are relaxing over the week-end, before the beginning of the second semester on Monday morning.

Registration will probably be lower during the second session, according to Miss Isabel Ramsay, recorder. Many graduate students who need only one semester's course register for the first instead of the second.

The ratio of men to women is still very unequal, although several new men students are expected to register for the last term. Some were taken for service the first of July, and more are expected to be called soon.

You can't blame 'em when they have such alphabetical soup as this to ladle out:

Basinski, Hanzewski, Hofferth, Wietelmann, Wiczorek, Ankelman, Bordagaray, Gillenwater, Cavarretta, Dallessandro, Novikoff, de la Cruz, Criscola, Vosselle, Reyes, Gernauer, Homokay, Semmick, Leitch, Cucurullo, Rescigno, Strincovich, Coscarart, Ordenanna, Amato, Jurisch, Litwiler, Kurowski, Mustal, Lazor, Metkovich, Annoreno, Lopat, Cucinello, Desantellis, Boudreau, Hresko, Dubiel, Strinweiss, Parisse, LaMacchia, Seimeth, Giuliano, Carraquel, Lafabvre, Guerni, Eranavi, Suarez, Quintas, Rolas Cheslak, Riehtenberg, Milosevich, Kwieciowski.

chemical and architectural engineering.

Receiving Academic Credits
Presumably these courses are free unless the soldier wishes to get academic credit for them. If he prefers approved courses for academic credit in the extension divisions of the cooperating colleges and universities, the government will pay half the tuition fees, not to exceed $20 for any one course.

Any soldier interested in these opportunities to study should confer with the commanding officer of his company. There are also opportunities for continued study by those who wish, in the navy and marines.

Parents and other loved ones who are persuasive in their letters may call to the attention of the youths in the armed forces these opportunities and, without too much lecturing, might induce many of these youths to enroll for such available courses.

Teachers Can Help
Most can be done in this direction long before the youth enters the service. Let parents school principals and teachers of youths who will be eligible for service during the next several months contrive ways of apprising youths of these opportunities to continue studying while in the armed forces.

As in civilian life, so in the armed forces, some youths will enroll for courses too hard for them, or for which they are untrained. Many of these youths facing discouragements will give up. Some youths, too, will not apply themselves and will be tempted to put off doing their lessons promptly. Anyway, pursuing a correspondence course anywhere requires considerable self-discipline.

The youth who has not cultivated good habits, or diligent study at school in civilian life is not very likely to exercise such good habits while in the armed forces.

It is quite apparent that responsibility is not cultivated in an hour, day or even a year. At best it is a matter of continuous growth from early childhood. Great crises like the one of the present ought to make us parents aware of this fact and cause every father and mother to begin now whether the child is five or 15 to do the best possible job at cultivating self-discipline and responsibility in him.

Fighting Japs No Easy Matter

Soldiers In South Pacific
Fail To See Early End
Of War

SAIPAN CONQUEST WAS COSTLY ONE

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
U.S. Staff Correspondent

SAIPAN, THE MARIANAS, July 6.—Delayed—Got a letter from home today that said everybody in the States is feeling good about the war, and the general belief is that it will be over soon.

Maybe the perspective is better from there than here, because the people fighting desperately for the little island of Saipan can't see the end of the war, and the people back of us training for desperate battles on other islands, large and small, can't see the end of the war.

Heavy Casualties

The men on Saipan have been fighting three weeks. They have suffered heavy casualties. The two marine and one army divisions that are only now reaching the bulk of the Japanese garrison on the island know that their outfits will take a lot of fixing before they are ready to fight again. They know that green kids from the States will have to fill in for the veteran men who found the end of the war on Saipan.

They know lots more. They have travelled in transports over our long supply lines. They have watched the transports being loaded and unloaded. They know it takes a long time to prepare an amphibious expedition, both from a standpoint of men and materiel.

Takes Long Time

And they can look at the simplest map and see a lot of amphibious expeditions ahead, each one tougher than the last.

The men on Saipan are veterans. They saw the Japs at Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Makin, Kwajalein and Eniwetok. They know they lost more men at Saipan than at any of the others—and that the islands ahead are bigger, have larger garrisons that are even more important to Japan than Saipan was.

This afternoon the army and ma-lines are in the mountainous terrain approaching Marpi Point, last refuge of the Jap on Saipan.

American has won the island for all practical purposes, but there are lots of hours of fighting and dying ahead before the island will be a safe place for an American to live.

Can't Hurry Preparations

South of us the Carolines, Truk, Ponape, Kusaie, are cut off from Japan by the Marianas invasion, but ahead lie Ulithi, Yap, Palau and the Philippines, and north lie the Bonins and the Volcano Islands. And these are still just the fringe, from a military standpoint. Formosa, China and Japan itself lie beyond.

This war out here is not like any other war ever fought. In other wars, fought on the ground largely, a field commander could press an advantage, hurry his troops forward ahead of plan when opportunity arose, make up his tactical plan as he went along.

Here every island is a separate war, a small scale campaign which has to be planned, equipped and manned independently.

It cannot be fought in a hurry.

Courts Of Inquiry Prepare To Start Pearl Harbor Probe

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(INS)—Special army and navy courts of inquiry prepared today to investigate circumstances surrounding Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, preliminary to courts-martial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short.

The navy court will convene at the navy department next Monday and is expected to review the report of Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts on the Pearl Harbor disaster. The army's investigation may also start next week. It was explained that the courts of inquiry will function in a manner similar to a grand jury.

No date has been set for the trials of Kimmel and Short who were charged with dereliction of duty in connection with the attack.

The two high ranking officers who were in command of Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck have made public requests for an immediate trial. Both were relieved of their assignments immediately after the disaster and have entered private industry.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Secretary of War Stimson ordered the courts of inquiry in compliance with terms of a joint resolution recently passed by congress. Under the act congress extended the statute of limitations governing the Kimmel-Short trials for six months beyond June 7, 1944, on condition that they be brought to trial within that time.

New York Woman Faces Life Term

Joan Schlutter, 29, Twice-Married,
Confesses Kidnapping Goggin Baby

NEW YORK, July 15.—(INS)—Twice-married Joan Schlutter, 29, was held on charges of kidnapping and abduction today facing a possible life sentence on her confession that she stole six-months-old Barbara Ann Goggin.

Mrs. Schlutter was found with the Goggin baby 29 hours after the baby was taken from a crib in the New York Foundling hospital where she had been placed while her mother underwent a serious operation.

The baby was reported to have suffered no ill effects from the kidnapping, except a slight case of sniffles but was placed in the medical ward of the foundling hospital on her return as a precaution.

Mrs. Schlutter, childless herself, told police she was under the influence of liquor when she climbed the four-foot fence surrounding the hospital and took the child.

Warning Is Given To 290 Strikers

McKEES ROCKS, Pa., July 15.—(INS)—The Pressed Steel Car Company today posted warnings to 290 CIO-striking election department workers that they must return to their posts Monday or forfeit their jobs.

The men started a walkout Thursday in an inter-union dispute over election procedure within the local of the United Steelworkers of America. Production of freight cars, vitally needed by railroads for the transportation of war materials, has been halted.

The company notices further warned that no releases will be given by the company to enable men who fail to report for work Monday morning to apply to the United States employment service for new jobs.

Prisoners Of War Ballot Puzzler

HARRISBURG, July 15.—(INS)—The state defense council tossed a knotty problem into the laps of local election board members today. Briefly, election officials will have to decide whether to send secret ballot blanks to Pennsylvanians held prisoners of war.

A council spokesman said that in "some instances" military ballot information cards containing data about war prisoners were turned in to council headquarters by county chairmen.

"That will be up to county election boards," the spokesman said when asked whether Pennsylvania war prisoners will be mailed ballots to vote in the general election November 7.

Bronze-Moose Clash Sunday

Johnson Bronze Protests To Commission Use Of Pitcher Sargent

ALSO QUESTION UMPIRE'S DECISION

Johnson Bronze and the Loyal Order of Moose are scheduled to clash in the third of a series and the "rubber" game which will decide the first half championship of the City Baseball league at 2:45 p. m. Sunday on the E. & A. field. However, if the league commissioners act favorably upon a protest filed by the Johnson Bronze concerning the second game it may change and prolong the situation. Manager Michael Duffley of the Bronze disputes the right of the Moose to have used Pitcher Sargent in the second game because he had only participated in one game in the first half. Duffley takes the position that the elimination of the Bronze or Moose in the first half series constitutes a play-off. He also disputes the decision of Umpire Priscaro regarding Jack Doult's hit which Priscaro called a foul.

Apparently the intent of Rule 3 will have a strong bearing on Duffley's decision. The rule calls for a three-game series in case of a tie. It then says that the winners of the first and second halves are to meet in a five-game series and to be eligible for the "play-off" players must have participated in four games.

The commission must decide and quickly in order to get the second half going July 18, whether the rule applies to the first half or only to the play-off at the end of the season.

Manager Fitz Rodenbaugh of the Moose asked the commission to settle the Sargent affair before the second game but according to reports it was impossible to get a quorum before it was played.

Hartman Signs, But No Release Received

Nick Rotundo of the I. A. M. has signed Dallas Hartman, pitcher, but so far no release has been received from West Pittsburg, according to a report of contracts in the City Baseball league office at The News. He also signed Harry Hardesty while Manager Houston of the Universal signed Joe Hemo. Manager Johnny Soho of the Shenango Pottery has signed Cpl. Ortolowski, George Hall, George Byak and Charles Nicholson, letting go Tony Champ, John Duo, Al Gonet, Stanley Gonet, Pete Panella and Paul Blair.

Army Turns Down Frankie Sinkwich

CLEVELAND, July 15.—(INS)—Frankie Sinkwich, former University of Georgia All-American football player, today received his third set-back in his effort to take an active part in the war effort as a member of the armed forces.

Sinkwich, honorably discharged from both the Marine Corps and the Maritime Service for physical reasons, was rejected for military service with the navy at the Youngstown, O., induction center.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

CAPTAIN'S PROGRESS

It's been some time since I've reported on the progress of Captain, the Labrador pup. In the meantime he's acquired a lot of knowledge in his puppyish way, and added several pounds of bone and muscle to his still streamlined chassis. His birthday was July 7, when he attained the sophisticated age of five months.

Strangely enough, Cap's first major difficulty was learning to bark. He'd try hard, twisting his head from side to side, emitting sneezes and pain yelps, but for some time he couldn't quite utter a clear bark. Finally he solved the intricacies of voice box physiology and now he can bark at other dogs, when he wants to go outdoors, when he wants to come in, when he wants food, which is practically all the time, and sometimes for no reason at all.

Takes Venturesome Move
Cap's real swimming lessons began when I donned a bathing suit and waded out into depths over the pup's head, but not too far from shore. After a little coaxing he ventured away from the safety of a foot or so of water and struck out toward me, yelping delightedly when he attained his goal. A few such experiences, which were rewarded with bits of dog biscuit, and he began to get a big kick out of the minor adventures.

A few days ago I paddled a duck boat along the shore, about 40 yards out, and Cap swam to it without much hesitation. Having negotiated the boat once he apparently was eager to carry on indefinitely. On one occasion he had some difficulty venturing away from the safety of shore again, but he learned to ride in the bow of a rowboat, too. He stands erect as "pilot" of the craft or sleeps there in the sunshine, having broken himself of the habit of rambling among loose fishing gear and other impediments.

Some threats with a switch and warnings as to what would happen to him if he didn't maintain his position were necessary before he grasped the idea that he had to stay put. He's rather indifferent about the occasional fish I boat, his interest diminishing as the battle wanes. He prefers fish that have been dead for some time and have an enticing aroma, but after a series of reprimands he's even losing interest in them.

Cap still gets three meals a day, the menu as varied as it can be up here in the woods, but consisting largely of dog biscuits and various stews in which pieces of carrots, cabbage and other vegetables are sliced. He's fond of raw asparagus when he can get it.

Johnson Bronze Win First-Half

Defeat Shenango Pottery
Friday Night 7 To 2
With Bob Pascarella
Pitching

Johnson Bronze softball team won the first-half championship of the New Castle Industrial Softball league race last night at Marshall field by taking the measure of the Shenango Pottery team, 7 to 2, behind the excellent six-hit pitching of the veteran Bob Pascarella.

It was the eighth win in a row for the undefeated Bronze team managed by Kiki Marino, the man who has turned out innumerable champions for the Bronze in years gone by. Pascarella had the Pottery at his mercy all evening and kept their six hits scattered.

Kelly Cleans Bases

Kelly of the Bronze was the feature hitter, smacking a double with the sacks loaded with Bronze players in the big fifth inning. Gociano and Merando also featured at bat for the first-half champions. Vargo and Copley led the Pottery hitting. The Bronze has two games left to complete the first-half but cannot be beaten out as the nearest opponent has lost four games. The praise of the Bronze team is being sung far and wide today and rightfully so. Rocco P. Viggiano is assisting Marino with the handling of the champions.

Score by innings: R H E
Shenango Pot. 101 000 0-2 6 4
Johnson Bronze 010 141 x-7 10 1
Batteries—Johnson Bronze: Pascarella and Kelly; Shenango Pottery: Barlett and Copley.

MACHINISTS WIN GAME

The I. A. Machinists softball team hot-favorites to upset the Johnson Bronze in the second-half race last night served notice by defeating the fine Standard Steel Springs team at Gaston Park Field, 9 to 4.

Gabby DeCaprio on the hill for the Machinists gave up but six hits and kept them scattered. The winners collected 13 hits off of Justine and Joe Fair. Frankie Coello and DeCaprio smacked long homers to be the feature hitters in the game. Other heavy hitting was done by Letty Rozak, Don Edgar, Lundy Aven, Shorty Bonk and Diangillis.

Hecker and Crane played a bang-up game, the outfield for the losers. The Springs team led 2 to 1 until the sixth when the Machinists broke out with five runs. Score by innings: R H E
I.A.M. 000 105 3-9 13 4

Married 15 Times; Runs Afoul Of Law

Woman Who Admits Marrying 15 Men, Some While Drunk, Gets Two-Year Term

DETROIT, July 15.—(INS)—A 15-times-married designer of wedding gowns will be sent to the women's federal prison in Alderson, W. Va., Monday following her sentence of two years for cashing allotment checks from two of her four soldier-husbands.

She is petite Mrs. Korine Agnes Buckner Horn, 35-year-old redhead, who failed to divorce most of her 15 mates. She was sentenced and fined $2,000 by Federal Judge Frank Picard.

"I am not interested in the 15 husbands nor in your technique in procuring them," said Judge Picard in passing sentence. "Our concern here is with the allotment checks you cashed from two soldier husbands."

She was asked if she had sold her life story to a Chicago newspaper in 1938 when she was quoted as explaining her many marriages. "I have men, that's the only way I can get even with them, to marry them."

"That's ridiculous," replied Mrs. Horn. "Of course, I don't hate men. And I never sold my life story."

She admitted she was drunk or ill when married several of the 15 men. "I have no control when I drink too much," she added.

Youngstown Team Will Play Here

Business Manager Rocco P. Viggiano of the championship Johnson Bronze softball team announced today that the Bronze team will get a real test next Wednesday evening at Marshall field when they play the General Fireproofing team of Youngstown, Ohio.

The General Fireproofing team is leading the Mahoning Valley Softball League in Youngstown and will bring a powerful lineup to New Castle to try and upset the Bronzers.

All-Star Game Not Up To Par

Davis Walsh Says It Was An All-Star Game Minus
Any Stars

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Staff Writer)

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—Portrait of a meandering reporter, making mumps on his lap. All again was quiet along the Allegheny as Pittsburgh recovered, although marked difficulty from the future, if any, of an annual all star game which, at times, left the witnesses vaguely wondering whether they were looking at a ball game or a rodeo. Everybody hit or seemed to, everybody ran, everybody threw the ball around with abandon, with the result that one arrived, at length, at this conclusion:

That baseball, at least for purposes of the war period, was attempting to do the impossible. It was trying to put on an all star game, with practically none.

Was No Sellout

Varying reasons incidentally were cited to cover the fact that Pittsburgh didn't begin to buy the game out, contrary to forecasts. Some even said that tall tales about an absolute sellout had kept people from trying to buy tickets. What seems more likely is that the attraction didn't look good enough at the advance prices that have prevailed for several years.

That, and the fact that baseball itself seems to have no wish to exploit the game. On the contrary, it has usually left all this to the press with the rival managers, Joe McCarthy and Billy Southworth, didn't even show in town until shortly before noon on the day of the game.

Somebody later suggested that a single game wasn't enough; that with the best of the major leagues assembled in one park (some of them seeing no action at all on the time field day) would dress up the show. But a baseball man put the snuff on that one (but lastly) thus:

Should Dress Up
"Them field guys is the bunk. All they do is furnish alibis for a lot of no-good 'asterisks' who claim they're hurt, and loaf on your time for the rest of the year."

We have no way of knowing whether or not that's right, being certain only of this in connection with the all star show:

Baseball either ought to dress it up or give it up.

STOCK MARKET
LITTLE CHANGED

Trading Is Dull In Market Session In New York This Morning

NEW YORK, July 15.—(INS)—The stock market drifted along in typical summer Saturday fashion today, getting nowhere.

Trading was dull, running at little more than 300,000 shares for the 2-hour session.

There was little news to influence traders. With the war on the eastern front reaching a crisis, speculators were inclined to hold off over the weekend.

A few rails, such as Atchison made feeble attempts at advances. Goodrich was higher in the rubbers. Motors were unchanged to lower. So were the steels and the utilities. Practically unchanged. Gamewell Corp., a special situation, jumped 1.

Bond trading was quiet with prices little changed. Grains were slightly higher.

Dewey Sentiment Strong In Midwest, Candidate Told

Chairman, Of Republican Congressional Committee Sees Victory In November

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 15.—Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, told Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Friday that the Republicans will control the House of Representatives after January 1 and that sentiment for the Dewey-Bricker ticket is "sweeping the middle west."

Halleck, who nominated Wendell L. Willkie as the 1940 national convention, expressed his personal belief that Willkie will support the present ticket. He recalled that in nominating Willkie four years ago he promised that the latter would support the choice of that convention "win, lose or draw."

No One-Man Show
Rep. Halleck asserted that Gov. Dewey is not trying to make a one-man show out of the Republican campaign.

"I have been tremendously impressed," he said, "with the orderly, cooperative way he is approaching the campaign. He has and is consulting with congressional candidates and with his running-mate. He also is consulting with the Republican governors."

"The congressional committee," he replied, "will be supporting all Republican candidates for congress, including Hamilton Fish."

"Do you think," he was asked, "that the Republican party has a better chance of electing a Republican congress than a Republican president?"

"I think we will elect both," he replied, "but there are a lot of persons of good political judgment who think there is a better chance of electing a house majority than a president."

Shortly after he concluded his talk with Representative Halleck, Gov. Dewey left Albany for a week end rest on his Pawling farm.

Earlier Dewey assailed what he described as a tendency in wishing to set the executive branch of the Federal government "above the people."

Children need training for proper behavior. Junior should be taught to stand up for his rights. He should also be taught how to get along with his companions.

He will be more likely to succeed if he knows how to get along with people rather than fighting with them.

Education is a good thing. Public schools and Sunday schools and colleges are fine.

There are many things to learn besides music and history and science. The science of right living should be a required subject from the kindergarten onward.

Some students think that good teachers of this subject are rather scarce.

Patriotic Program Given At Dean Park

Almost Seventy Children Take Part In Playground Pageant Friday Afternoon

Waving red, white, and blue colors over a large part of the Dean park playground, nearly seventy youngsters formed in line for a patriotic pageant Friday afternoon.

Led by two baton twirlers in red jackets, and by Uncle Sam himself, dressed in his usual costume, the parade moved to form the letters "U. S. Once in place, the children then sang one verse of "America" and gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Children Perform

After little Fay Parker, holding a large flag, had stepped out of line and led the group in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," Richard Allen, as Uncle Sam, and the baton twirlers, Lucy DeVincentis and Joann Elder, stepped out and performed.

Almost interrupting an exhibition of airplanes by Jack and Bob Suber and Sonny Sinek, a gang of junior commandos circled the field four times on bicycles decorated with red, white and blue paper streamers, and then broke up to allow a demonstration of jitsu by Frank Patterson, Jack McPhillips, Raymond Gianguili, Vincent Julian, Fred Yannarella, and Tony Gianguili.

Souvenirs Shown

Pulled by Fred Yannarella on a bicycle, a wagon loaded with army trophies from German and American soldiers was also in the parade. This exhibit, which included the big metal knife, spoon, and fork carried by a German soldier, was owned by Danny DiVitto, Frank Patterson, and Fred Yannarella.

Every child in the pageant carried a flag, or an airplane model, or gun, and some were fully decked out with holsters and overseas caps. Junior commandos were Frank Patterson, Mike Scalzo, Bobby Glenn and Bob Stoner. Two clowns, Roger Egan and Garry Elder, were also in the parade.

An unusual playground performance, the red, white, and blue pageant was carried out as systematically as army maneuvers. The colors were symbolic of both the United States and France, whose national holiday was Friday. The whole program was under the direction of Miss Mildred Sargeant.

CHILD BITTEN BY DOG

Richard Coates, aged two years, of R. F. D. No. 3 was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital Friday afternoon for a laceration of the face, the result of being bitten by a dog.

Picnics At Grove Top 13-Year Record

Park Superintendent Says Unusual Crowds Fill Picnic Grounds This Year

Not for thirteen years has Cascade park had crowds as large as this year's swarming to the grove for picnic lunches and dinners, says C. C. Coulthard, park superintendent.

During the depression years, a few scattered picnics could be found almost every day, but now social clubs and lodges, industrial groups, labor unions, and Sunday schools all turn out for outdoor meals, along with the family groups.

Seating about 700 persons in the shelters, the grove was completely filled Thursday evening, Mr. Coulthard said. No extra reservations were available at all. Saturday's are usually the weakest days, as most housewives are shopping or preparing for week-end activities.

Mornings are the liveliest time for picnic meals in the park in Mr. Coulthard's opinion, but usually it's the older people who take advantage of them. The kitchen has to be open by 6 o'clock so that the bacon and ham and eggs can begin cooking.

At many picnics the groups finish their meals with singing, or with swimming if it's late enough for the pool to be opened.
